

SCOUTING REPORT: Brazil vs Argentina

World Cup 2026 - Quarter Final

BRAZIL TACTICAL NOTES:

Brazil have shown vulnerability in defensive transitions over their last 5 matches.

Their high press breaks down after 70 minutes as fatigue sets in.

Vinicius Jr. tends to drift centrally under pressure, creating space on the left flank.

Set pieces remain their strongest attacking threat - 4 goals from corners in last 10 games.

ARGENTINA TACTICAL NOTES:

Argentina midfield dominance is their core strength - Enzo Fernandez controls tempo.

They have won 8 of their last 10 matches when scoring first.

Weakness: slow to track runners from deep in the second half.

Recent form suggests confidence is high after consecutive clean sheets.

PSYCHOLOGICAL FACTORS:

Brazil carry the weight of home continent expectations.

Argentina are the defending World Cup champions - mental edge is significant.

Neutral venue removes home advantage but Argentina historically perform better on neutral ground.
